Advantages of 28mm Aluminum Screw Caps:

28mm aluminum screw cap has many advantages in the packaging industry, mainly including the following points:

- Good sealing: Aluminum screw cap provides excellent sealing performance, which can effectively prevent liquid leakage and air ingress, protect the quality of the contents in the bottle, and extend the shelf life.
- Corrosion resistance: Aluminum has good corrosion resistance and is suitable for various types of liquids, including acidic or alkaline liquids.
- Lightweight: Aluminum bottle caps are lighter than glass or other material caps, reducing transportation costs.
- Easy to open and close: The spiral design makes opening and closing easy, and users can easily open and reclose, suitable for home and commercial use.

- Recyclable: Aluminum materials are recyclable, meet the requirements of sustainable development, and are favored by consumers with increasing environmental awareness.
- Aesthetics: Aluminum caps can be subjected to a variety of surface treatments, such as spraying, printing, etc., which can enhance the appearance and brand image of the product.
- Widely applicable: Suitable for the packaging of a variety of beverages, foods, cosmetics, medicines and other products, with a wide range of application scenarios.
- High and low temperature resistance: The aluminum cover can withstand high and low temperatures to a certain extent, adapting to different storage and transportation environments.

Application of 28mm Aluminum Screw Caps:

- Beverages: such as bottled water, juice, carbonated drinks, etc., aluminum bottle caps can effectively seal and keep the beverage fresh and taste.
- Alcoholic beverages: such as beer, wine and spirits, aluminum bottle caps can provide good sealing, prevent oxidation, and maintain the flavor of the wine.
- Condiments: such as oil, vinegar, soy sauce, etc., aluminum bottle caps can prevent liquid leakage and are easy to open and close.
- Cosmetics and skin care products: Some skin care products also use aluminum bottle caps to improve the grade and sealing of the product.
- Medicines: Some medicines are also packaged with aluminum bottle caps to ensure the safety and effectiveness of the product.
- Household cleaning products: such as detergents, disinfectants, etc., some cleaning products also use aluminum bottle caps for easy use and storage.
